SHEPHERDS VOICE:

Life after death can be a fascinating topic for many people because of its uncertainties. But we know that all those who die in God's grace and friendship, but still imperfectly purified, are assured of their eternal salvation. What we do not know for certain is, after death, what kind of purification do they undergo, so as to achieve the holiness necessary to enter the joy of heaven. The Church encourages us to honor the memory of the dead and offer prayers and Mass for them so that they may be purified and attain the beatific vision of God. Let us help those who have died by offering our prayers for them. Fr. Jose
